PART A — QUESTIONS

TSIA2-E14-001

Section: ELAR

Type: mcq

Focus: Reading

Prompt:

Read the passage and answer the question.

Students in a statistics course at Red Oak College studied wait times at the campus financial services office. Some students expected the project to show simply that the office needed more staff. Instead, the data revealed a more specific pattern. Lines were longest during the first two days after tuition reminders were sent and during the hour before evening classes began. The students also found that many visits involved the same three questions: how to set up a payment plan, how to confirm that a scholarship had posted, and how to update a mailing address. After interviewing office employees, the class recommended two changes: sending reminders with clearer links to common tasks and offering short appointment blocks on the busiest days. The office did not claim that the changes would eliminate every delay. However, staff agreed that better information and better scheduling could reduce unnecessary visits and make unavoidable visits more efficient. The project helped students see that statistics can identify not only whether a problem exists but also when and why it happens.

Which statement best describes the main purpose of the students' project?

- A) To use data to identify specific causes of long wait times and suggest practical improvements
- B) To prove that financial services offices should stop sending tuition reminders
- C) To show that students should avoid asking questions about payment plans
- D) To argue that statistics is useful only for studying college offices

However, staff agreed that better information and better scheduling could reduce unnecessary visits and make unavoidable visits more efficient. The project helped students see that statistics can identify not only whether a problem exists but also when and why it happens.

What can reasonably be inferred from the passage?

- A) Some office visits might be avoided if students receive clearer instructions with tuition reminders.
- B) Students never need help understanding scholarships or payment plans.
- C) The financial services office is busy at exactly the same level every day.
- D) Evening classes should be canceled to reduce office wait times.

In the passage, the phrase “unavoidable visits” most nearly means visits that

- A) still need to happen even after better information is provided
- B) are scheduled by mistake and should be canceled
- C) occur only when students ignore all instructions
- D) are unrelated to financial services questions

project helped students see that statistics can identify not only whether a problem exists but also when and why it happens.

Which sentence best states the central idea of the passage?

- A) A statistics project showed how data can reveal patterns behind a campus problem and guide practical solutions.
- B) Financial services offices should answer only three types of student questions.
- C) Tuition reminders are the main reason students struggle in evening classes.
- D) Statistics courses should focus on staff schedules instead of student learning.

Prompt:

Read the passage and answer the question.

A city recreation center began placing color-coded wristbands on children during large summer programs. The colors identify activity groups, not skill levels: red for art, blue for swimming, green for outdoor games, and yellow for reading activities. Staff members say the wristbands help children find the correct line after lunch and help substitutes identify groups quickly.

What is the main purpose of the wristbands?

- A) To help staff and children organize activity groups more easily
- B) To rank children by athletic ability
- C) To prevent children from changing activities for the entire summer
- D) To replace supervision during recreation programs

Prompt:

Read the passage and answer the question.

During his first week in a ceramics class, Evan judged each bowl by how smooth it looked on the outside. His instructor asked him to turn one bowl over and examine the base. The bottom was too thick, which made the bowl heavy and likely to crack during firing. Evan realized that good craftsmanship included parts of the object a casual viewer might never notice.

What can reasonably be inferred about Evan?

- A) He learns that quality depends on hidden details as well as visible appearance.
- B) He decides that the outside of a bowl is the only part worth checking.
- C) He believes that heavy bowls are always better than lighter bowls.
- D) He stops making pottery because the base cannot be seen.

Read the passage and answer the question.

A nonprofit that delivers meals to older adults is deciding whether to add a short wellness check to each delivery. Supporters say drivers already see clients regularly and could report concerns such as unopened mail, unusual confusion, or a missed delivery response. Others worry that drivers may feel responsible for problems beyond their training. The nonprofit is considering a simple reporting form and training on what drivers should and should not attempt to handle.

Which statement best describes the nonprofit's approach?

- A) It is exploring a way to notice safety concerns while setting limits on drivers' responsibilities.
- B) It has decided that drivers should provide medical treatment during deliveries.
- C) It believes meal deliveries should stop if clients need other kinds of help.
- D) It wants drivers to ignore any unusual signs they notice during visits.

Read the passage and answer the question.

A music instructor compares rhythm to a person's walking pace. A walker may speed up, slow down, pause, or return to a steady stride, but the movement still has a pattern. Similarly, rhythm helps listeners recognize organization in music even when the notes themselves change. The comparison helps beginning students hear rhythm as structure rather than as decoration.

What is the main purpose of the walking comparison?

- A) To explain rhythm as an organizing pattern in music
- B) To show that music students should practice only while walking
- C) To prove that all songs have the same rhythm
- D) To argue that notes are unimportant in music

Prompt:

Read the two passages and answer the question.

Passage 1:

Community colleges should expand evening tutoring hours because many students work during the day. A student who leaves work at 5:30 p.m. may have no realistic chance to visit a tutoring center that closes at 4:00 p.m.

Passage 2:

Evening tutoring can help working students, but colleges should also consider how tutoring is delivered. Some students may benefit more from online appointments, recorded skill reviews, or weekend sessions. Extending hours is useful only if the new schedule matches students' actual needs.

How does Passage 2 respond to Passage 1?

- A) Passage 2 agrees that evening tutoring may help but argues that colleges should consider several delivery options.
- B) Passage 2 claims that working students should not use tutoring services.
- C) Passage 2 argues that tutoring centers should close earlier in the day.
- D) Passage 2 says that recorded skill reviews are never useful.

The article about public drinking fountains argues that their importance is easy to overlook. A working fountain can help runners, commuters, children, and people without money to buy bottled drinks. When fountains are broken or poorly marked, water becomes less available to people moving through a city. The author does not claim that fountains solve every public health concern, but argues that small pieces of public infrastructure can affect daily comfort and fairness.

Which statement best summarizes the passage?

- A) Public drinking fountains can support comfort and fairness by making water more accessible.
- B) Public drinking fountains should be removed because bottled drinks are available.
- C) Cities should provide water only to people who are exercising.
- D) Broken fountains are useful because they encourage people to leave public spaces.

Read the passage and answer the question.

The poem describes a city bus at dawn, its windows “holding pale squares of morning” as it turns onto the main road. A nurse, a cook, and two students sit far apart, each quiet but moving toward the start of a day. The image of the windows suggests that the bus carries not only passengers but also separate beginnings gathered into one shared space.

What effect does the quoted image most likely create?

- A) It gives the bus a calm sense of shared early-morning possibility.
- B) It suggests that the bus windows are broken and unsafe.
- C) It shows that the passengers are unable to see outside.
- D) It makes the morning seem loud and chaotic.

Read the passage and answer the question.

A writing instructor tells students that a paragraph's first sentence should create an expectation that the rest of the paragraph fulfills. If the first sentence promises a comparison, the paragraph should compare. If it promises a cause, the paragraph should explain a cause. Readers become confused when a paragraph begins in one direction and then develops a different idea.

Which sentence best states the instructor's point?

- A) A paragraph should develop the idea its opening sentence leads readers to expect.
- B) The first sentence of a paragraph should always be the longest sentence.
- C) Comparisons and causes should never appear in the same essay.
- D) Readers prefer paragraphs that begin with one topic and end with another.

The training guide for library volunteers asks them to place returned books on a sorting cart rather than directly on shelves. The rule may seem inefficient, but a staff member must first check whether each book belongs to another branch, has been requested by another reader, or needs repair. Shelving a book too quickly can make it harder to find later.

Why does the guide ask volunteers to use the sorting cart?

- A) To ensure books are checked before being returned to the shelves
- B) To prevent staff members from handling returned books
- C) To keep readers from borrowing books from other branches
- D) To make returned books permanently unavailable

The article on budget airlines explains that a low ticket price may not represent the full cost of a trip. Some airlines charge separately for carry-on bags, seat selection, schedule changes, or printed boarding passes. The author recommends comparing the final price after fees rather than choosing a flight based only on the first number displayed.

What is the author's purpose?

- A) To encourage travelers to consider total cost rather than only the advertised fare
- B) To prove that all budget airlines are more expensive than traditional airlines
- C) To explain how pilots choose flight routes
- D) To argue that travelers should never bring luggage

When Samira began helping at a community repair booth, she tried to fix every small appliance that visitors brought in. A mentor stopped her before she opened a damaged toaster with a frayed cord. He explained that volunteers should first decide whether an item can be repaired safely. Samira learned that helpfulness includes knowing when not to attempt a repair.

What lesson does Samira learn?

- A) Responsible help sometimes means recognizing safety limits.
- B) Every broken appliance should be repaired immediately.
- C) Volunteers should ignore damaged cords if an item looks simple.
- D) Repair booths are useful only for appliances that are already safe.

Prompt:

Read the passage and answer the question.

(1) The college should create a workshop on writing clear lab conclusions. (2) Many students know how to record observations, but they struggle to explain what those observations mean. (3) A strong conclusion should connect the results to the original question instead of simply repeating the procedure. (4) In the workshop, students would practice identifying whether their evidence supports, weakens, or complicates a hypothesis. (5) They would also learn how to describe possible sources of error without blaming the equipment for every unexpected result. (6) For example, a student might explain that uneven heating could have affected the reaction rate in one trial. (7) Clear conclusions are useful in biology, chemistry, environmental science, and other lab-based courses. (8) A lab-conclusion workshop would help students move from reporting what happened to explaining why the results matter.

Which sentence would provide the best introduction before sentence 1?

- A) In science writing, explaining the meaning of results is as important as recording the results themselves.
- B) Many science classrooms contain sinks, tables, and safety equipment.
- C) Students sometimes complete lab assignments with partners or small groups.
- D) Laboratory courses may meet once or twice each week.

The student's essay argues that the campus bookstore should offer a textbook price-comparison guide. The essay explains that students often see several formats, such as rental, used, digital, and new copies, but may not understand the long-term costs or return rules. It also notes that a guide could be updated before each semester begins.

Which concluding sentence best reinforces the argument?

- A) A price-comparison guide would help students make informed textbook choices while giving the bookstore a practical way to update information.
- B) Textbooks are often printed with covers, chapters, page numbers, and indexes.
- C) Some students carry books in backpacks, tote bags, or rolling carts.
- D) Bookstores usually sell pens, notebooks, sweatshirts, and other campus items.

TSIA2-ES14-001

Section: Essay

Type: essay

Prompt:

Some people believe that students should be taught how to ask for help effectively, including how to identify a problem, choose the right person or office, and explain what support they need. They argue that knowing how to seek help is important for college, work, and adult responsibilities. Others believe that students learn these skills naturally when problems arise and that formal instruction is unnecessary.

Assignment:

Write an essay of 300–600 words in which you develop your point of view on the issue presented in the passage. Support your position with reasoning and examples from your reading, studies, experience, or observations.

Model Guidance:

A strong response should clearly state a position on whether students should receive formal instruction in asking for help effectively. The essay should maintain purpose and focus, organize ideas logically, and develop the argument with specific reasons and examples. Strong responses may consider the value of self-advocacy, the role of experience, and the consequences of not knowing how to seek support. The writing should use varied sentence structure, demonstrate control of Standard English conventions, and show thoughtful critical reasoning.

Rubric:

Score 8: The essay presents a clear, insightful position; develops ideas thoroughly with specific and persuasive examples; is logically organized; uses precise language and varied sentence structure; and shows strong control of Standard English conventions.

Score 7: The essay presents a clear position; develops ideas effectively with relevant support; is well organized; uses appropriate language; and contains only minor errors.

Score 6: The essay presents a reasonable position; develops ideas adequately; has a clear structure; shows general language control; and may include some errors that do not interfere with meaning.

Score 5: The essay presents a position but may support it unevenly; organization is present but basic; language control is adequate; and errors may occasionally distract the reader.

Score 4: The essay shows a limited or unclear position; development is thin, general, or repetitive; organization may be weak; and errors may interfere with meaning.

Score 3: The essay attempts to address the issue but has minimal support, weak organization, and frequent language errors.

Score 2: The essay is seriously underdeveloped, poorly organized, or difficult to understand because of major errors.

Score 1: The essay shows little ability to develop a response and may be extremely brief, confusing, or mostly unrelated.

Score 0: blank, off-topic, too short, incoherent, or non-English response

PART B — ANSWER KEY + EXPLANATIONS

TSIA2-E14-001 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: To use data to identify specific causes of long wait times and suggest practical improvements — Explanation: The passage shows students using wait-time data and interviews to identify patterns and recommend clearer reminders and appointment blocks.

TSIA2-E14-002 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: Some office visits might be avoided if students receive clearer instructions with tuition reminders. — Explanation: The passage states that clearer links to common tasks could reduce unnecessary visits.

TSIA2-E14-003 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: still need to happen even after better information is provided — Explanation: “Unavoidable visits” refers to visits that still require in-person or scheduled help even after unnecessary visits are reduced.

TSIA2-E14-004 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: A statistics project showed how data can reveal patterns behind a campus problem and guide practical solutions. — Explanation: This sentence captures the passage’s main idea: data can show when and why a problem occurs and help guide solutions.

TSIA2-E14-005 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: To help staff and children organize activity groups more easily — Explanation: The wristbands identify activity groups so children and staff can manage transitions.

TSIA2-E14-006 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: He learns that quality depends on hidden details as well as visible appearance. — Explanation: Evan learns that the unseen base affects the bowl’s weight and durability.

TSIA2-E14-007 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: It is exploring a way to notice safety concerns while setting limits on drivers’ responsibilities. — Explanation: The nonprofit is considering wellness checks but also training drivers on what they should and should not handle.

TSIA2-E14-008 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: To explain rhythm as an organizing pattern in music — Explanation: The walking comparison helps students understand rhythm as structure.

TSIA2-E14-009 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: Passage 2 agrees that evening tutoring may help but argues that colleges should consider several delivery options. — Explanation: Passage 2 accepts the value of evening tutoring while adding online, recorded, and weekend options.

TSIA2-E14-010 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: Public drinking fountains can support comfort and fairness by making water more accessible. — Explanation: The passage argues that fountains matter because they make water available to people moving through public spaces.

TSIA2-E14-011 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: It gives the bus a calm sense of shared early-morning possibility. — Explanation: The quoted image connects the bus windows with morning beginnings and a quiet shared space.

TSIA2-E14-012 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: A paragraph should develop the idea its opening sentence leads readers to expect. — Explanation: The instructor explains that the paragraph should fulfill the expectation created by its first sentence.

TSIA2-E14-013 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: To ensure books are checked before being returned to the shelves — Explanation: The sorting cart allows staff to check branch location, requests, and repair needs before shelving.

TSIA2-E14-014 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: To encourage travelers to consider total cost rather than only the advertised fare — Explanation: The author warns that extra fees can change the actual cost of a budget-airline ticket.

TSIA2-E14-015 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: Responsible help sometimes means recognizing safety limits. — Explanation: Samira learns that volunteers should first decide whether a repair can be attempted safely.

TSIA2-E14-016 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: In science writing, explaining the meaning of results is as important as recording the results themselves. — Explanation: This sentence introduces the paragraph's focus on interpreting lab results, not merely recording observations.

TSIA2-E14-017 — Correct: B — Correct Answer: Sentence 3 — Explanation: Sentence 3 states the key skill: connecting results to the original question instead of repeating the procedure.

TSIA2-E14-018 — Correct: B — Correct Answer: After sentence 4 — Explanation: The added sentence explains the benefit of identifying how evidence relates to a hypothesis.

TSIA2-E14-019 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: A lab-conclusion workshop would help students interpret results instead of merely reporting them. — Explanation: This revision states the idea more precisely and concisely.

TSIA2-E14-020 — Correct: B — Correct Answer: When Grace asked Taylor about the assignment, Taylor said the due date had changed. — Explanation: This sentence avoids unclear pronoun reference by naming who said the due date had changed.

TSIA2-E14-021 — Correct: B — Correct Answer: Yesterday, the committee reviewed the proposal, discussed the budget, and approved the schedule. — Explanation: This sentence keeps all verbs in consistent past tense.

TSIA2-E14-022 — Correct: B — Correct Answer: The department's announcement explained next month's advising schedule. — Explanation: "Department's" correctly shows possession, and "month's" correctly shows the schedule belonging to next month.

TSIA2-E14-023 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: Because the revised map showed accessible entrances, visitors found the correct doors more easily. — Explanation: This revision turns the dependent clause fragment into a complete sentence.

TSIA2-E14-024 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: moreover — Explanation: The second clause adds another benefit of the practice test, so "moreover" is appropriate.

TSIA2-E14-025 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: The counselor created a checklist that helps students prepare for transfer advising appointments. — Explanation: This option combines the two sentences clearly and correctly.

TSIA2-E14-026 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: Add evidence about litter patterns, student requests, or current bin locations near parking areas. — Explanation: The paragraph needs relevant evidence showing why recycling bins are needed near parking lots.

TSIA2-E14-027 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: Some may argue that study rooms should be used only for coursework, but limiting interview reservations to short time blocks would still protect student study access. — Explanation: This sentence fairly acknowledges an opposing concern and responds with a practical limit.

TSIA2-E14-028 — Correct: B — Correct Answer: The club canceled the trip because the bus was unavailable. — Explanation: This sentence is concise and preserves the meaning of the original.

TSIA2-E14-029 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: The handbook, which was updated in August, explains attendance rules, grading policies, and safety procedures. — Explanation: The nonessential phrase “which was updated in August” is correctly set off by commas, and the list is punctuated clearly.

TSIA2-E14-030 — Correct: A — Correct Answer: A price-comparison guide would help students make informed textbook choices while giving the bookstore a practical way to update information. — Explanation: This conclusion reinforces both the student benefit and the practical implementation described in the paragraph.

TSIA2-ES14-001 — Model Guidance: A strong response should state a clear position on formal instruction in asking for help effectively, support that position with specific reasons and examples, address self-advocacy and experience when appropriate, and demonstrate organized, controlled writing. — Rubric: Scores range from 8 for a focused, well-developed, logically organized essay with strong language control to 0 for a blank, off-topic, too short, incoherent, or non-English response.
